THERE is some humor in Texas. The other day a man brought out a foriorn, spavined-looking steed, and addressed the spectators thus: "Fellow-citizens, this is the famous horse Dandy Jack. Look at him. He is perfect. If Dandy Jack. Look at him. He is perfect. If he were sent to the horse-maker nothing could be done for him. What shall I have for the matchless steed?" "What will you take for him?" yelled the crowd. "Two hundred dollars." "Give you $5." "Take him. I never let $195 stand between me and a horse trade." That's business,—New Yark Post.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Sure Cure for Dyspepsia. years ago a physician in New York City published a small book in which be gave written certificates of marvelous cures of dyspepala. His cures were mysterious and very effective. He charged $500 for a cure, and his patients were most solemnly pledged, with much ceremony, to profound secrecy as to the mode of treatment. After the death of the doctor, some of the patients felt themselves absolved from the obligation of secresy, and one of them disclosed these facts: After correcting some of the more growly wrong dietetic habits, he required each patient to spend ten or fifteen minutes in the morning, at rising, in kneading, and slapping his own abdomen with precision. This was to extend over the stomach, bowels and liver. This was repeated just before dinner; again with precision on going to bed. The patient was requested to be temperate and regular in all his habits, exercise much in the open air, and attend most assiduously to the slapping, kneading and percussion of the whole abdomen; and as the result, we are informed that malignant cases of indigestion, that had resisted all other remedies, yield to this. "In every case of indigestion," says Dr. Lewis, "no matter what may be its character, slapping the bowels with the flat of the hands on rising in the morning, four hours after breakfast, and in the evening on going to bed, is excellent treatment. I cannot conceive of a case of chronic indigestion which such a manipulation dietetic habits, he required each patient to chronic indigestion which such a manipulation would not relieve. If a person is so weak that he cannot perform these slappings and kneadhe cannot perform these shappings and knead-ings for bimself, then the hands of a discreet person should be employed." It is marvellous how a stomach, sore and sensitive at first, and hardly able to bear a touch, will strengthen under these operations, and bear, for a short time, with pleasure pretty rough handling.

"How dare you?"
"I'm examining these trunks," was the reply. "Such impudence!" said the captain. "De-

That was all he said, but the mourners grinned, and the amateurs think that the "blamed sarcasm is infernally out of place at a funeral, you know."

It is pretty hard to throw off old habits all at once. A Nebraska dealer in agricultural implements "got religion," felt it his duty to point out the way to others, and said to a farmer: "Brother Jones, I will guarantee that if you join our church you will not only find it the best in the market, but it will take you will not the the through without any further invenstraight through without any further inven-tory. A WELL-MERITED repartee was dealt by a smart midshipman to the daughter of a K. C. B. at a ball given by the latter to the naval officers on the North Pacific station. The middy was boil enough to ask the young lady to accept him for her partner, "Oh, dear, no," said the supercilious beauty; "Ma never allows me to dance with midshipmen!" allows me to dance with midshipmen!" Somebody let her know the middy was a lord, and she repented, and by and by reminded him he was engaged to her for the next dance. The youngster, however, was not so easily to be mollified, and, remembering the lady had native blood in her veins, smilingly replied; "Oh, dear, no!
